To Whom it may concern,

I am a paraprofessional at Gaffney School in New Britain. I have been working for the board of education for 23 years. I've developed bad asthma about ten years ago. When I have a really bad episode I can be out of work for 3 to 4 weeks straight and in and out of the hospital for treatment. To add insult to injury I do alot of pulling and tugging and lifting for my job and have injuryed my back twice. my shoulders are now shot and are full of arthritis. I need fmla because I don't know when a flare up will occur.

Sincerely,
Dawn Mitchell
