To whom it may concern
I am writing this letter on behalf of my twin boys who are autistic I am a single mom who works part time for DDS state of Conn. My concerns for my son's who are young adults are the lack of services and funding. They receive little as it is and knowing that any day it could be elimated is unsettling. So I'd like to know what happens next, I am aging and sooner or later they will need a place to go, I'm doing my part to make sure they are as independent as their autism allows them to be, but they will always need supervision

Sincerely
Susan Champlin
