Explanation

Any increase in the workloads of the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) or the Connecticut Resources Recovery Authority due to membership on a task force to study the possible re-use of ash residue from trash to energy plants and the ability of Connecticut and out of state solid waste disposal facilities to accept such residue, is anticipated to be minimal and handled within the routine activities of each entity.

To the extent that there are legislative members appointed to the task force, Legislative Management could incur a minimal cost for legislator mileage reimbursement.
