I have a registered outdoor wood furnace and have had it for several years . I take pride in running it the way it should be run. I have over complied with the statutes and even have a letter congratulating me on my efforts from the DEP. I have spent countless time and money in order to see it operates properly . Most OWF owners I have spoke to feel the same way and take pride in owning these units .I feel I should not be punished because of the irresponsible actions of the few. enclosed is a picture of my unit . If you look carefully you can see the heat plume, set up properly they don't smoke all that much .
