ANNUAL REPORT OF THE JUDICIAL SELECTION COMMISSION

January 1, 2010 through December 31, 2010

Due to budget constraints, the Judicial Selection Commission did not conduct interview meetings during February, April, August and November, 2010. Our yearly total numbers for the interviews will be reflected below.

Pursuant to recent amendments to our governing statute, the Judicial Selection Commission is required, for the first time this year, to provide by January 1st "the number of candidates on the list compiled by the Commission pursuant to subsection (f) of [section 51-44a of the General Statutes] and the statistics regarding the race, gender, national origin, religion and years of experience as members of the bar and calendar year of recommendation of all such candidates." As of January 1, 2011, there are: 201 qualified candidates on the Superior Court List; 40 qualified candidates on the Appellate Court List; 20 qualified candidates on the Supreme Court List, and 5 qualified candidates on the Supreme Court Chief Justice List. The Commission currently is compiling the remaining information, most of which can only be provided on a voluntary basis by each candidate. The Commission will supplement this report once it has received a response from each candidate to its letter seeking the statutorily requested information. In any event, the supplemental information will be provided no later than June 30, 2011 based on the responses received as of that date.

The total number of candidates interviewed for 2010 were forty-seven (47). The information contained in this report is reflected only from candidates who submitted the Voluntary Information Form from our website with their application. We explained to applicants this form was used solely for statistical purposes, which would enable our report to reflect accurate information to the Judiciary Committee. For the year 2010 we received 100% participation from the candidates the Judicial Selection Commission interviewed.

- (c) The members of the commission shall elect a chairperson from among the members appointed by the Governor.

The members of the commission shall receive no compensation for their services but shall be reimbursed for any necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties.
- (5) No member of the commission may serve consecutive terms, except that if, on or after June 26, 2003, a person is appointed a member of the commission to fill a vacancy and complete an unexpired term, such person may serve an additional term. If a commission member is an attorney, no member of the commission member's firm may serve a term consecutive to such commission member.

(e) The commission shall evaluate incumbent judges who seek reappointment to the same court and shall forward to the governor for consideration the names of incumbent judges who are recommended for reappointment as provided in this subsection. The commission shall adopt regulations in accordance with the provisions of chapter 54 [FN1] concerning criteria by which to evaluate incumbent judges who seek reappointment to the same court; provided pending adoption of such regulations, the commission shall use criteria established prior to June 22, 1989, for the evaluation of such judges. In evaluating the reappointment of an incumbent judge, the commission shall consider the legal ability, competence, integrity, character and temperament of such judge and any other relevant information concerning such judge. There shall be a presumption that each incumbent judge who seeks reappointment to the same court qualifies for retention in judicial office. The burden of rebutting such presumption shall be on the commission. The commission shall investigate and interview each incumbent judge who seeks reappointment and, prior to the expiration of a term of office of such judge, shall recommend such incumbent judge for nomination for reappointment by the governor to the same court unless, as provided in this subsection, recommendation of such judge is denied. If a preliminary examination indicates further inquiry is necessary before a recommendation of reappointment may be made, the commission shall hold a hearing concerning the reappointment of such judge. The commission shall send notice to the judge by certified or registered mail, return receipt requested, not less than one hundred eighty days prior to the convening of such legislative session which is to consider the reappointment of the incumbent judge, (A) that a hearing by the commission on such reappointment shall be held and of the time, date and place of such hearing, which shall be not less than thirty days nor more than forty-five days after the date of such notice and (B) of specific claims made against the judge. The commission shall make a record of all hearings conducted pursuant to this subsection. The hearing may be open to the public at the request of the judge. For purposes of conducting a hearing under this subsection, not less than ten members of the commission shall be present and voting. A judge appearing before such a hearing shall be entitled to counsel, to present evidence and to cross-examine witnesses who appear voluntarily. No judge shall be required to sign or execute any release in order to proceed with the hearing. The commission shall not later than twenty days after the close of such hearing render its decision whether it shall recommend such incumbent judge for nomination for reappointment by the governor. Any affirmative vote of a majority plus one of the members present and voting shall be required to deny recommendation to the governor for nomination of an incumbent judge to the same court. A judge who has not received approval by the commission may within ten days after receipt of the notice of decision, which shall include a record of the numerical vote, request a rehearing on the grounds that the conclusions of the commission are contrary to the evidence presented at the hearing or the commission failed to comply with the procedural or substantive requirements of this section. The decision of the commission shall be final. There shall be no right of appeal by any judge appearing before the commission, at law or in equity, or any resort to any court following the decision of the commission.

(f) Except as provided in subsection (e) of this section, the commission shall seek qualified candidates for consideration by the Governor for nomination as judges for the Superior Court, Appellate Court and Supreme Court. The commission shall adopt regulations, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 54, concerning criteria by which to evaluate the qualifications of candidates, including incumbent judges who seek appointment to a different court. The commission shall investigate and interview the candidates, including incumbent judges seeking appointment to a different court. A list of such qualified candidates shall be compiled by the commission.

(g) In connection with any inquiry concerning the reappointment of an incumbent judge, the commission shall have the power to issue subpoenas requiring the attendance of witnesses and the production of any books or papers which in the judgment of the commission are relevant to the inquiry. The commission may, upon request of the judge whose reappointment is at issue, issue a subpoena on behalf of such judge. If any person disobeys such process or, having appeared in obedience thereto refuses to answer any pertinent question put to him by the commission, or to produce any books and papers pursuant thereto, the commission, on its own behalf or on behalf of the judge, may apply to the superior court for the judicial district of Hartford setting forth such disobedience to process or refusal to answer, and said court may cite such person to appear before said court to answer such question or to produce such books and papers and, upon his refusal so to do shall commit him to a community correctional center, there to remain until he so testifies.

(h) (1) Judges of all courts, except those courts to which judges are elected, shall be nominated by the Governor exclusively from the list of candidates or incumbent judges submitted by the Judicial Selection Commission. Any candidate or incumbent judge who is nominated from such list by the Governor to be Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and who is appointed Chief Justice by the General Assembly, shall serve a term of eight years from the date of appointment. The Governor shall nominate a candidate for a vacancy in a judicial position within forty-five days of the date the Governor receives the recommendations of the commission. When considering the nomination of an incumbent judge for reappointment to the same court, the Governor may nominate the incumbent judge if the commission did not deny recommendation for reappointment. Whenever an incumbent judge is denied recommendation for reappointment to the same court by the commission or is recommended by the commission but not nominated by the Governor for reappointment to the same court, or whenever a vacancy in a judicial position occurs or is anticipated, the Governor shall choose a nominee from the list of candidates compiled pursuant to subsection (f) of this section. (2) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (1) of this subsection and subsection (f) of this section, the Governor may nominate an associate judge of the Supreme Court to be Chief Justice of the Supreme Court without such judge being investigated and interviewed by the commission and being on the list of qualified candidates compiled and submitted to the Governor by the commission. An associate judge of the Supreme Court who has been nominated by the Governor to be Chief Justice of the Supreme Court in accordance with this subdivision, and who is appointed Chief Justice by the General Assembly, shall serve an initial term as Chief Justice equal to the remainder of such judge's term as an associate judge of the Supreme Court.

(i) A majority of the membership of the commission shall constitute a quorum. The affirmative vote of at least a majority of the members of the commission present and voting shall be required for any action by the commission except (1) an affirmative vote of at least a majority plus one of the members present and voting shall be required for a new nominee to be recommended to the governor for nomination as a judge or for an incumbent judge to be recommended to the governor for nomination as a judge to a different court and (2) an affirmative vote of a majority plus one of the members present and voting shall be required to deny recommendation to the governor for nomination of an incumbent judge to the same court. No vote of the commission on a new nominee shall be by secret ballot. The vote of the commission on an incumbent judge may be by secret ballot.

(j) Except as provided in subsections (e) and (m) of this section, the investigations, deliberations, files and records of the commission shall be confidential and not open to the public or subject to disclosure except that the criteria by which candidates or incumbent judges who seek reappointment to the same court or appointment to a different court are evaluated and the procedural rules adopted by the commission shall be public.

(k) The commission may employ such staff as is necessary for the performance of its functions and duties.

(l) No member of the commission who is an attorney-at-law shall be considered for recommendation to the governor for nomination as a judge during his tenure on the commission or for a period of two years following the termination of his tenure on the commission.

(m) In January of each year, the chairperson of the commission shall report to the joint standing committee on judiciary the following information: (1) The number of candidates interviewed for appointment as new nominees, the number of incumbent judges interviewed for reappointment to the same court and the number of incumbent judges interviewed for appointment to a different court, (2) the number of candidates who were recommended and denied recommendation to the governor as new nominees, the number of incumbent judges recommended and denied recommendation for appointment to the same court and the number of incumbent judges recommended and denied recommendation for appointment to a different court, and (3) the statistics regarding the race, gender, national origin, religion and years of experience as members of the bar of all such candidates.

(n) The commission shall have the power to enter into such contractual agreements as may be necessary for the discharge of its duties concerning the investigation of candidates seeking appointment to a judicial position and incumbent judges seeking reappointment to the same court or appointment to a different court, within the limits of appropriated funds and in accordance with established procedures.

1. Validity--In general

Proposed legislation that would restructure the commission in a manner resulting in a reduction in the length of terms of some commission members was not unconstitutional; since the legislature, not the constitution, created the positions, the legislature could alter or abolish these positions in the public interest. Op. Atty. Gen. No. 89-016 (June 21, 1989), 1989 Conn. Op. Atty. Gen. 86, 1989 WL 505904.

2. ---- Due process, validity

Nonattorney members of Connecticut Judicial Selection Commission did not have constitutionally protected "property interest" in serving out their full terms, of which they could not be deprived without due process. Connecticut Judicial Selection Com'n v. Larson, D.Conn.1989, 745 F.Supp. 88, Constitutional Law ¶4175

Even assuming that nonattorney members of Connecticut Judicial Selection Commission had constitutionally protected property interest in serving their full terms, they received all of process which was due when legislature enacted legislation shortening their terms in accordance with proper procedures. Connecticut Judicial Selection Com'n v. Larson, D.Conn.1989, 745 F.Supp. 88, Constitutional Law ¶4175

Procedural due process claims brought by nonattorney members of Connecticut Judicial Selection Commission, that they had protected property interest in serving their full terms and that legislature could not constitutionally shorten their terms once they began to hold office, were so insubstantial that district court was without subject matter jurisdiction to address them. Connecticut Judicial Selection Com'n v. Larson, D.Conn.1989, 745 F.Supp. 88, Federal Courts ¶13; Constitutional Law ¶975

3. ---- Bill of attainder, validity

Legislation which shortened terms of nonattorney members of Connecticut Judicial Selection Commission was not a "bill of attainder," where legislation likewise reduced terms of all nonattorneys serving on commission at anytime in future; legislation was not impermissibly particularized, notwithstanding that current nonattorney members of Commission were singled out for immediate removal from office. Connecticut Judicial Selection Com'n v. Larson, D.Conn.1989, 745 F.Supp. 88, Constitutional Law ¶1100(6)

4. Construction with other laws

Connecticut Judicial Selection Commission and its nonattorney members were not so identified with state that action by Commission and members challenging legislation's constitutionality had to be dismissed, on ground that state had no authority to sue itself, and that action presented no justiciable case or controversy. Connecticut Judicial Selection Com'n v. Larson, D.Conn.1989, 745 F.Supp. 88. Constitutional Law ¶695; States ¶190; Constitutional Law ¶980

Connecticut statute providing that all suits by state officers be brought by Attorney General or under his direction did not apply to action by Connecticut Judicial Selection Commission and its nonattorney members, so as to prevent them from challenging legislation which shortened members' terms with counsel other than Attorney General. Connecticut Judicial Selection Com'n v. Larson, D.Conn.1989, 745 F.Supp. 88. States ¶202

5. Standing

Connecticut Judicial Selection Commission and its nonattorney members had standing to bring action challenging constitutionality of legislation which shortened members' terms and which modified balloting procedures employed, notwithstanding lack of any express statutory authorization to sue. Connecticut Judicial Selection Com'n v. Larson, D.Conn.1989, 745 F.Supp. 88. Constitutional Law ¶703; Constitutional Law ¶709

6. Confidentiality

The confidentiality provisions of § 51-44a do not limit evidentiary options at a hearing conducted by the Judicial Selection Commission. Op.Atty.Gen. No. 94-021 (Aug. 12, 1994), 1994 WL 515853.

7. Reapportionment, effect

Where C.G.S.A. § 51-44a requires the Judicial Selection Commission to consist of twelve members, with two members appointed from each of six congressional districts, and where, as a result of the 2000 census, Connecticut's congressional districts were reduced to five, C.G.S.A. § 51-44a should be construed to permit appointments based on the six congressional districts in existence prior to the 2001 reapportionment. Op.Atty.Gen. No. 03-002 (Feb. 5, 2003), 2003 WL 1906466.

8. Revolving door period

In the absence of statutory or regulatory definition, "consideration" of a candidate begins within the meaning of C.G.S.A. § 51-44a(l) when the candidate's application is filed with the Judicial Selection Commission; thus, candidate was impermissibly "considered" by the Judicial Selection Commission prior to the expiration of the two-year revolving door period where his tenure on the commission ended on August 31, 2001 and candidate applied to the commission on July 9, 2003; the term "considered" denotes a process that may begin as early as the date the application is filed and sets in motion the process of review and evaluation leading to a decision by the Commission whether to recommend the candidate for appointment. Op.Atty.Gen. No. 04-003 (March 22, 2004), 2004 WL 575136.

The legislature may refuse to confirm a nominee if it determines that the nominee's application was prematurely considered by the Commission prior to the expiration of the two-year revolving door period following termination of the candidate's tenure on the commission in violation of C.G.S.A. § 51-44a(l), but there is no statutory requirement that it do so; the prohibition is directory rather than mandatory, the legislature specified no sanction or specific consequence for a violation of such provisions, and it is for the political branches to enforce, if they choose. Op.Atty.Gen. No. 04-003 (March 22, 2004), 2004 WL 575136.

In the absence of a specific legislatively imposed sanction, if the Governor believes that a candidate has been improperly or prematurely considered by the commission prior to the expiration of the two-year revolving door period following termination of the candidate's tenure on the commission in violation of C.G.S.A. § 51-44a(l), the Governor may refuse to nominate such person or withdraw the nomination for a judgeship, but is not required to do so; by declining to specify a consequence for such violation of law, the legislature reserved for itself or the Governor the full discretion to assess each case based on all the circumstances, qualifications of the individual and other relevant factors. Op.Atty.Gen. No. 04-003 (March 22, 2004), 2004 WL 575136.
