

My name is David Perry, I've been a law abiding citizen all 24 years of my life. I'm a small business owner, a home owner, and a life time member of the NRA. I must say in a quarter century, proposed bill 1094 has got to be one of the most ridiculous potential laws that I have ever read.

This bill does nothing to decrease the amount of crimes on the street, or shootings in an alley.

This bill does nothing but increase the amount of felons in Connecticut by turning law abiding magazine holders to class D felons overnight

There is no such thing as a law abiding murderer

Do you really expect this law to deter any crime?

If Connecticut legislators are looking to curb gun violence do it on the mean streets of Hartford, Bridgeport and Newhaven not I'm my home or business in Glastonbury or Middletown.

It seems logical that this bill was probably raised in as a response to what happened in Arizona

The event in Tucson was a tragedy, but the same outcome could have been achieved with a knife in the drawer of your kitchen or driving an automobile into the crowd. A 32 round magazine did not kill and injure those people in Arizona. A deranged man with a motive did.

The result Connecticut is trying to achieve isn't going to be accomplished by taking cops off the street to process forfeited magazines, and it's certainly not going to be achieved by keeping law abiding citizens, from protecting themselves in their homes.

Taking crime off the street means taking the criminals off the street, this is done by good police work where the crimes are committed, and strict sentencing where the criminals are tried. Not by taking certain magazines out of the safes of law abiding gun owners.

Thank you
