Public Hearing - February 28, 2011

Testimony Presented by United Way of Connecticut on
S.B. 1059 An Act Implementing the Recommendations of the Commission on Enhancing Agency Outcomes

My name is Richard Porth. I serve as the CEO of United Way of Connecticut. Thank you for the opportunity to provide testimony today on S.B. 1059, An Act Implementing the Recommendations of the Commission on Enhancing Agency Outcomes. In particular, I will address Sections 309 and 310 of the bill, which refer to a single point of entry for individuals seeking long-term care.

Beginning more than 35 years ago, succeeding Governors and legislatures have supported United Way of Connecticut/2-1-1 in its work to help Connecticut residents navigate the system to find services and simplify their access to necessary supports, so that they can make a good life and contribute to Connecticut's vitality.

Connecticut was the first state in the country to authorize statewide three-digit 2-1-1 telephone service for residents who need help to find and access community and health and human services. This early state support was provided because 2-1-1 is easy for people to remember and because it simplifies what can be a complicated and frustrating process, particularly when services are provided across a number of state agencies and nonprofits. It was also seen as an investment in Connecticut's service delivery infrastructure enabling more cost-effective use of many different health and human services funded by various state agencies. When OPM's Secretary provided testimony in 1998 to the Department of Public Utility Control supporting the use of 2-1-1 in Connecticut by United Way of Connecticut, he said our service provides "one-stop shopping" for residents and has been a "tremendous success, worthy of ongoing public support".

The release of the report and recommendations of the Commission on Enhancing Agency Outcomes provides another opportunity for 2-1-1 to contribute to the state's efforts to strengthen service delivery and enhance outcomes. In particular, a proposal to create a single point of entry to provide information and referrals for human service agency programs – including long-term care (Sections 309 and 310 in S.B. 1059) and another to develop greater coordination of services across state agencies, are areas for which 2-1-1 can provide substantial help. 2-1-1 has worked for years along with Area Agencies on Aging and others to help seniors and their families access needed services.

The state can leverage its earlier investments in one of Connecticut's oldest and most productive public-private partnerships by utilizing 2-1-1 as part of the solution in its renewed efforts to simplify and streamline access to services and supports in long term care and in other health and human services.

Our State–UWC/2-1-1 partnership has grown over the years. For example:

- The 2-1-1 Contact Center has been built up over 35 plus years, adding new components and services such as 2-1-1 Child Care, HUSKY Infoline, and Child Development Infoline. These and other programs under the 2-1-1 umbrella are illustrated in Attachment A. They work together within 2-1-1 so that the whole is greater than the sum of the parts, and so that each new state investment leverages earlier investments by the state and others.
- The state's support coupled with United Way support has also enabled 2-1-1 to build up and maintain the most comprehensive, up-to-date, health and human services database in Connecticut, including both government and nonprofit services for residents seeking help.
- 2-1-1 has increasingly served as a statewide gateway for accessing key services, including the Department of Developmental Services' (DSS) Birth to Three Program, the Department of Children and Family's (DCF) Emergency Mobile Psychiatric Service, and the most recent example the Department of Social Services' (DSS) Homelessness Prevention and Rapid Re-housing Program. (Illustrated in Attachment B.)
- The Governor and/or leadership in state agencies have called on 2-1-1 to help with special projects over the years, often on short notice. These have included outreach to residents on behalf of state agencies, rumor control and information dissemination during emergencies, and serving as a shelter clearinghouse during extreme cold spells.

We are proud of our partnership with the state. And, we continue to work hard to employ state funding prudently and to the best effect for the state and Connecticut residents. United Way of Connecticut/2-1-1 can be a big part of the solution for some of the recommendations in the report of the Commission on Enhancing Agency Outcomes, as the state renews its focus on access to and coordination of services which help people make a good life in Connecticut.

I am concerned because my 2-year-old son is not yet walking.

My child is in crisis.

Can my family get Section 8 supported housing?

Where can I get help paying for child care?

Where can I get an H1N1 vaccination?

Where can I report storm damage?

We may soon be homeless, can you help?

We don't have health insurance, but my child needs to see a doctor.

Where can I go for a cancer screening?

What type of child care is available in my town?
