

Before we waste too much money regarding education, we need to understand the KING HAS NO CLOTHES!

What I mean is this. Ask any teacher where they spend most of their time. ANY TEACHER YOU CHOOSE. Most will say 60% of their time is spent on maintaing order. This is shocking! How can we compete with the rest of the world when this is true?

I am for merit pay, but having B+ averages and the best in other ways, does NOT guarantee success. Is there not some laws we can make etc. etc. to change the lack of discipline in schools or shall we just pretend it is not there? Yes, it is societal, but with the majority of our money being wasted on it, we must attach something to this spending to solve the real problem.

Please speak to a few teachers. See if I am not correct. I have spoken to several in casual conversations. Sadly they all say the same thing.

My daughter was an A+ student with Masters Degree and is now teaching in North Carolina because she could not find a job here. She did not tell me this, but it got my interest up in talking to other teachers.

If a teacher can only teach 40% of the time, why are we wasting our money trying to fix the minority of the problem? PLEASE LOOK INTO THIS AND SHARE WITH OTHER ALLEGED REPRESENTATIVES OF THE PEOPLE. Yes, it will take time, but will be worth it if we can really help the teachers.
