

I am writing to support the preservation of equine trails. Thank you for your understanding that as development increases, horses are squeezed out. They are an important of the state's economy and rural culture. Please preserve and expand, if possible, the trails that they use. Riding is the kind of recreation we should be supporting in the state. It enables the expansion of agriculture, including hay farming, riding stables, breeding farms, barns, tractors, and all the retail products associated with farming operations. Riders are working to make their horses Connecticut friendly. Thank you for keeping our state horse friendly.

Sincerely,

Lisette Rimer
Vice President, Pomfret Horse and Trail Association
