

People's property values and health are hard hit by these smoke,
spewing beasts.
Fortunately, I don't live near one, but I have seen what they can do.

Ask yourself, would I want to live next to one?

I don't think so.

I had a neighbour burning in a chimenea in the summer and I couldn't breathe in the house. It was in the 80's and horribly hot. Then I found out the next day she was burning old pressure treated deck wood. Nice to breathe, especially with an auto immune condition.

You've got to help these people and not the wood burning industry. It's what you were hired for.

Thank you,
