I do a lot of work that I don't get paid for. Sometimes when I take consumers to their doctors appointments and you're there with them all day even though it means I go over the hours I can get paid for. I can't leave them there, so I stay even though I'm not getting paid. I also work holidays and don't get paid for the gas I use when I take consumers places. That's hard to do when you don't get paid very much.

I love the consumers I work for and don't want them to be alone. I get satisfaction from making them feel good and cared for, but I want respect and dignity for the work I do.
