Who is MERSCORP Holdings?

MERSCORP Holdings, Inc. is a privately held corporation that owns and manages the MERS[®] System and all other MERS[®] products. It is a member-based organization made up of about 3,000 lenders, servicers, sub-servicers, investors and government institutions.

What is MERS?

Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, Inc. ("MERS") is a wholly-owned subsidiary of MERSCORP Holdings, and its sole purpose is to serve as mortgagee in the land records for loans registered on the MERS[®] System and MERS[®] Commercial. MERS is a nominee for the lender and subsequent buyers ("beneficial owners") of a mortgage loan and serves as a common agent for the mortgage industry.

What is the MERS[®] System?

The MERS[®] System is a national electronic database that tracks changes in mortgage servicing rights and beneficial ownership interests in loans secured by residential real estate.

Are MERS loans recorded in the public land records?

All mortgages (or deeds of trust) registered on the MERS[®] System are recorded in the public land records, and MERS remains the lien holder in the land records whenever transfers of the promissory note or servicing rights take place between MERS members. The MERS[®] System is not a legal system of record nor a replacement for the public land records. No interests are transferred on the system; they're only tracked.

How does MERS become a mortgagee?

There are two ways. At closing, the borrower and lender both agree to standard language in the security instrument making MERS the original mortgagee, with the right to act on behalf of the lender. The standard language is approved and used by Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, Ginnie Mae, the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) and the Veterans Administration (VA). If MERS was not recorded as the original mortgagee on the security instrument, a lender can assign the mortgage to MERS after closing.

GLOSSARY

Beneficiary: The person/company for whose benefit a deed of trust is given.

Closing: The act of transferring ownership of a property from seller to buyer in accordance with a sales contract.

Deed of Trust: A document used in many states in lieu of a mortgage. Legal title to the property is vested in one or more trustees to secure the repayment of the loan.

Mortgage: A written debt instrument by which a borrower gives the lender a lien on real estate as security for the repayment of a loan.

Mortgagee: One who holds a lien on property or title to property, as security for a debt; the mortgage lender or lender's nominee.

Nominee: One who, in a limited capacity, is authorized to act for or represent another.

Promissory Note: A document that acknowledges a debt and outlines a borrower's promise to pay the specified sum to the lender under specified terms. It is a negotiable instrument and changes in its ownership are not recordable events.

Servicing: Often performed for a fee after loans are sold to investors; includes billing, collecting payments, filing reports, managing tax and insurance escrow accounts, and default follow-up for mortgages.

What does "MERS as original mortgagee" mean to borrowers?

MERS' role and rights are clearly spelled out in the contract between borrower and lender. When borrowers sign the mortgage security instrument at closing, they agree to standard language that grants and conveys legal title of the mortgage to MERS as mortgagee, giving the company the right to act on behalf of the current and subsequent owner of the loan.

Does MERS collect mortgage payments from borrowers?

MERS doesn't handle mortgage servicing. The mortgage lender, or another mortgage servicing company, collects payments from borrowers and manages their loans. Borrowers who have questions about their loans, or who need help with foreclosure prevention, should contact the company they send their payments to—not MERS. In 2011, all mortgage loans going to foreclosure are assigned and recorded in the servicer's name.

What does MERS do for lenders?

As the mortgagee of record, MERS provides service of process on legal documents and receives legal notices and other mail regarding the mortgaged properties. MERS sorts, scans and transmits documents electronically to the appropriate member for each loan. Because MERS is a common agent for its members, recording an assignment of the mortgage is not necessary when ownership of the promissory note or servicing rights transfer between members, eliminating work and cost. The MERS® System also provides information on undisclosed liens, which reduces fraud.

Does MERS have the documents for loans registered on the system?

MERS is not a document custodian and doesn't hold promissory notes or mortgage documents on behalf of the lender, servicer or investor. MERS is not responsible for keeping mortgage records—the servicer maintains the legal system of record.

How does MERS benefit borrowers?

MERS as original mortgagee eliminates breaks in the chain of title, resulting in less work and lower fees paid by the lender—fees that would ultimately be passed down to the homeowner. MERS provides access to data on the MERS® System free of charge to homeowners, county officials, and regulatory officials (subject to privacy restrictions). Homeowners can access the data on their mortgage loans registered on the MERS® System at www.mersinc.org or toll-free at 1-888-679-6377.

Does MERS hide the mortgage note owner?

Transfer of ownership of the promissory note is not a recordable transaction. However, the Truth In Lending Act (TILA) requires that borrowers be notified of ownership changes. RESPA regulations also provide for notice of servicing changes.

MERS[®] QUICK FACTS

February 2012

MYTHS vs. FACTS: THE MERS[®] SYSTEM, MORTGAGE ELECTRONIC REGISTRATION SYSTEMS, INC., AND MERSCORP HOLDINGS, INC.

BENEFITS WITH MERS:

Reduces cost of homeownership.

- Eliminates breaks in the chain of title
- Hard dollar savings on each loan for homeowners and lenders

Provides transparency.

- Identity of servicer available for FREE to homeowners via phone or Internet
- Used by lenders to find undisclosed liens

Used by governments and code enforcement officers to find companies responsible for maintaining vacant and abandoned properties.

Simplifies lien releases in case a lender goes out of business.

Increases efficiency in sale of loans and servicing transfers in secondary market.

Mortgage Identification Number (MIN) is assigned to each loan, used for tracking.

WITHOUT MERS:

Lenders would have to rely on paper recording with its inherent processing errors.

Recorders would have to staff according to the ebb and flow of mortgage activity.

There would be no single database with loan level history of ownership and servicing rights, no single mortgage identification number.

There will be breaks in the chain of title.

The cost of homeownership will be higher.

MYTH #1: MERS has failed to record transfers of mortgage loans in the public land records.

FACT: At closing, the lender and borrower agree to appoint MERS as the mortgagee on the mortgage or deed of trust. This means that when a MERS member sells the loan to another MERS member, only the promissory note—and not the mortgage—transfers, because the mortgage is grounded in the name of MERS. Therefore, because the mortgage did not transfer, an assignment to record the transfer need not be filed.

MYTH #2: MERS hides the chain of title so that borrowers can no longer see who owns their loans.

FACT: The public land records exist so that a lender can declare a lien on the property to protect them against borrowers defaulting on the loan. However, MERS actually makes it easy to identify the servicer and owner of a loan that's been registered on the MERS[®] System (see Myth #3 below).

MYTH #3: MERS makes it harder for borrowers to identify the servicer and owner of their mortgage loans.

FACT: We actually makes this EASIER. We have a toll-free number (888-679-6377) and website (www.mers-servicerid.org) that the public can access to find the current servicer—and where borrowers can find the owner—of any loan registered on the MERS[®] System. The MERS[®] System is the only national database with this information free and available to the public.

In addition, under federal law, borrowers are entitled to receive notification when the ownership of their loan changes. Servicers are also required under the Truth In Lending Act to respond to written borrower inquiries as to the ownership of their loans.

MYTH #4: MERS mortgages were not recorded in the public land records and has created an alternate recording system that's private and proprietary.

FACT: All MERS mortgages are recorded in the public land records and all required fees were paid. The MERS® System is not a legal system of record nor a replacement for the public land records. MERS' objective is not to replace county recorders; in fact we rely on the public land records to facilitate our business.

MYTH #5: Since MERS is not the lender, it does not have the right or "standing" to foreclose.

FACT: Because the borrower and lender both agreed to designate MERS as the mortgagee at closing, this gives us the right to act on behalf of the lender, which translates to our ability to foreclose on a borrower. Courts in all 50 states have upheld our role in this regard, and if the investor chooses to direct the servicer to foreclose in the name of MERS, they can legally do so in every state and the District of Columbia. However, we have changed our business process and no longer engage in foreclosures. But even when we did foreclose, it was never a key part of our business model and we never received a fee or profited from the practice.

Myth #6: MERS caused securitization.

FACT: Securitization was already happening before the company was founded. MERS has nothing directly to do with the securitization process.

MYTH #7: MERS stores mortgage documents that were previously kept by the servicer or investor.

MERS doesn't hold any documents on behalf of the servicer or investor. Just as it was prior to MERS, the recorded mortgage or deed of trust is typically held by the servicer, and the note is typically held by the custodian designated by the investor.

MERS complies with Connecticut law

Connecticut courts have consistently ruled favorably towards Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, Inc. ("MERS") on issues that include MERS' status as a valid beneficiary, the validity of MERS assignments, MERS' authority to foreclose, and MERS' role as a nominee for the lender and the lender's successors and assigns.

Appellate court rulings

Long before the existence of MERS, Connecticut courts have held that a mortgage may designate a person to serve as mortgagee of record who is different from the beneficial owner of the debt (see First Nat. Bank v. National Grain Corp., 131 A. 404, 406-7, Conn. 1925).

More recently, the Connecticut Supreme Court ruled in RMS Residential v. Miller (Dec. 5, 2011) that the assignee of a MERS mortgage, who is also the note holder, can foreclose. The court also found that MERS may serve as the mortgagee as a third party; that the MERS mortgage itself "plainly discloses" MERS' role, and that the "real nature of the transaction" was properly and sufficiently disclosed; and that MERS mortgages are not void because MERS is the named mortgagee.

Trial court rulings

Trial courts have also upheld MERS' right to foreclose. In MERS v. Ventura (April 20, 2006), the court affirmed MERS' right to foreclose, stating that "there is no question that the named plaintiff [MERS] is the correct party to bring this action."

The court in MERS v. Leslie (May 25, 2005) also came to the same decision. "The facts alleged here support the Plaintiff's standing in this matter," according to the court, and rejected the borrowers move to strike a MERS foreclosure complaint on the grounds of standing.
