
OLR Bill AnalysissHB 5088AN ACT CONCERNING SELF-SERVICE STORAGE FACILITY LIENS.SUMMARY:

By law, a self-service storage facility owner has a lien upon any personal property left in the facility by a renter who defaults on a rental agreement. This bill allows the owner to satisfy the lien notice procedures by sending electronic notice to the renter. If the owner does not receive the confirmation within three days, he or she must send notice by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested.

By law, an owner can also notify the renter by delivering written notice in person.

EFFECTIVE DATE: July 1, 2012

BACKGROUNDSelf-Service Storage Facility Liens

The lien is for any rent, labor, or other valid charges pertaining to the property in the storage facility; valid expenses incurred in its preservation; and reasonable costs for its sale or other disposition. The facility owner must follow specified procedures for, among other things, notifying a defaulting property owner, advertising the property sale, disposing of sale proceeds, and redeeming the property.
