72 construction, alteration, conversion, maintenance or use or to restrain, 73 correct or abate such violation or to prevent the occupancy of such 74 building, structure or land or to prevent any illegal act, conduct,
75 business or use in or about such premises. Such regulations shall be 76 enforced by the officer or official board or authority designated

77 therein, who shall be authorized to cause any building, structure, place 78 or premises to be inspected and examined and to order in writing the 79 remedying of any condition found to exist therein or thereon in 80 violation of any provision of the regulations made under authority of 81 the provisions of this chapter or, when the violation involves grading 82 of land, the removal of earth or soil erosion and sediment control, to 83 issue, in writing, a cease and desist order to be effective immediately.
84 The owner or agent of any building or premises where a violation of 85 any provision of such regulations has been committed or exists, or the 86 lessee or tenant of an entire building or entire premises where such 87 violation has been committed or exists, or the owner, agent, lessee or 88 tenant of any part of the building or premises in which such violation
89 has been committed or exists, or the agent, architect, builder,
90 contractor or any other person who commits, takes part or assists in 91 any such violation or who maintains any building or premises in 92 which any such violation exists, shall be fined not less than ten [nor] 93 dollars or more than one hundred dollars for each day that such

111 that such criminal prosecution is based on a zoning ordinance or

112 regulation which is the subject of a civil action wherein one of the 113 issues is the interpretation of such ordinance or regulations, and that 114 the issues in the civil action are such that the prosecution would fail if 115 the civil action results in an interpretation different from that claimed
116 by the state in the criminal prosecution. If the court renders judgment
117 for such municipality and finds that the violation was wilful, the court
118 shall allow such municipality its costs, together with reasonable 119 attorney's fees to be taxed by the court. The court before which such 120 prosecution is pending may order such prosecution abated if it finds 121 that the allegations of the plea are true.

2317 regional animal control officer may seize the dog, cat or other animal 2318 to [insure] ensure such compliance and the owner or keeper shall be 2319 responsible for any expenses resulting from such seizure. Any person 2320 aggrieved by an order of any municipal animal control officer, the 2321 Chief Animal Control Officer, any animal control officer or any 2322 regional animal control officer may request a hearing before the 2323 commissioner within fourteen days of the issuance of such order. After 2324 such hearing, the commissioner may affirm, modify or revoke such 2325 order as the commissioner deems proper. Any dog owned by a police 2326 agency of the state or any of its political subdivisions is exempt from 2327 the provisions of this subsection when such dog is under the direct 2328 supervision, care and control of an assigned police officer, is currently 2329 vaccinated and is subject to routine veterinary care. Any guide dog 2330 owned or in the custody and control of a blind person or a person with

2337 or by a conservation officer or special conservation officer appointed 2338 by the Commissioner of Energy and Environmental Protection, or by 2339 any police officer or state policeman. The owner or keeper of any dog

2353 quarantine shall be examined for rabies by the Connecticut
2354 Department of Public Health virology laboratory or any other
2355 laboratory authorized by the Department of Public Health to perform 2356 rabies examinations. The veterinarian performing the euthanasia shall 2357 be responsible for ensuring that the head of the euthanized animal is 2358 delivered by him or his designated agent within forty-eight hours to an 2359 appropriate laboratory designated by said department for rabies

2371 been bitten or attacked by a dog when the attacked animal was not on 2372 the premises of the owner or keeper of the attacking dog and provided 2373 the complainant's animal was under the control of the complainant or 2374 on the complainant's property, such officer, the commissioner, the 2375 Chief Animal Control Officer or any animal control officer may make 2377 the commissioner or such officer deems necessary. An owner or keeper 2378 of such dog who fails to comply with such order shall be [fined not

2379 more than two hundred fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than 2380 thirty days, or both] guilty of a class D misdemeanor. If the owner or

2382 subsection, the Chief Animal Control Officer or any animal control
2383 officer, municipal animal control officer or regional animal control 2384 officer may seize the dog to ensure such compliance, and the owner or 2385 keeper of such dog shall be responsible for any expenses resulting 2386 from such seizure. A person aggrieved by an order of the Chief Animal

The following Fiscal Impact Statement and Bill Analysis are prepared for the benefit of the members of the General Assembly, solely for purposes of information, summarization and explanation and do not represent the intent of the General Assembly or either chamber thereof for any purpose. In general, fiscal impacts are based upon a variety of informational sources, including the analyst's professional knowledge. Whenever applicable, agency data is consulted as part of the analysis, however final products do not necessarily reflect an assessment from any specific department.

OFA Fiscal Note

State Impact:

Agency Affected	Fund-Effect	FY 13 $	FY 14 $
Judicial Dept.	GF - Revenue Gain	Less than $25,000	Less than $25,000
Correction, Dept.	GF - Potential Savings	Less than $100,000	Less than $100,000

Note: GF=General Fund

Municipal Impact: None

Explanation

The bill is anticipated to increase revenue related to misdemeanor offenses by less than $25,000 annually. Among other changes, the bill classifies currently unclassified misdemeanors into Class D misdemeanors, which carry a maximum fine of $250. The revenue gain will be realized by the difference between the current maximum fine and the new maximum fine. There are few violations and fines related to violations of the statutes referenced in the bill.

The bill also reduces the maximum prison sentence for 67 misdemeanors. The bill has the potential to generate savings to the extent that fewer and shorter prison sentences result from the changes to statutes contained in the bill. There are few violations and fines related to violations of the statutes referenced in the bill. The cumulative effect of the changes is anticipated to be less than $50,000 in annual savings.

House "A" eliminated one reclassification and does not result in a fiscal impact.

The Out Years

The annualized ongoing fiscal impact identified above would continue into the future subject to inflation.

OLR Bill AnalysissHB 5145 (as amended by House "A")AN ACT CONCERNING THE RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE SENTENCING COMMISSION REGARDING THE CLASSIFICATION OF UNCLASSIFIED MISDEMEANORS.SUMMARY:

By law, misdemeanors are punishable by imprisonment of up to one year. They are classified according to severity as class A, class B, and class C. There are also unclassified misdemeanors which are punishable by imprisonment but not designated under one of these classes.

This bill:

1. creates a new misdemeanor classification (a class D misdemeanor),
2. adjusts the penalties of currently unclassified misdemeanors to fit them into classifications while deeming others to be classified,
3. reduces the penalties for some unclassified misdemeanors to fine-only violations, and
4. repeals some unclassified misdemeanors.

Specifically, it:

1. reduces 45 unclassified misdemeanors to violations which are punishable by fines only, with 39 of them payable by mail as with infractions;
2. classifies 57 unclassified misdemeanors without changing the maximum prison sentence each carries but increasing their potential fines;

3. classifies eight unclassified misdemeanors by increasing their maximum prison sentence and 22 unclassified misdemeanors by decreasing the maximum prison sentence, with some changes to their potential fines;
4. for 13 statutes, creates a new penalty structure, with different penalties based on prior convictions under the statutes (in some instances these crimes already had different penalties depending on prior convictions and in some instances the bill adds them);
5. classifies 17 unclassified misdemeanors by making slight changes to their maximum prison sentences, such as classifying a crime punishable by up to 12 months in prison as a class A misdemeanor punishable by up to one year in prison;
6. eliminates 11 unclassified misdemeanors by repealing statutes and two unclassified misdemeanors by removing the criminal penalty for violating the statute;
7. requires that any unclassified misdemeanor with a maximum prison penalty equal to the penalty in one of the classes of misdemeanors be deemed included in that class of misdemeanor; and
8. sets the possible probation term for the class D misdemeanor classification it creates and changes the probation terms for some unclassified misdemeanors.

*House Amendment "A" deletes a provision in the original bill that would have changed the penalty for employers' threatening voters to a class A misdemeanor from the current penalty of six to 12 months in prison, a fine of $100 to $500, or both.

EFFECTIVE DATE: October 1, 2012, except (1) the changes to probation terms are effective October 1, 2012 and applicable to sentences imposed for crimes committed on or after that date and (2) two conforming changes are effective January 1, 2013.

CLASSES OF MISDEMEANORS AND UNCLASSIFIED MISDEMEANORS DEEMED CLASSIFIED (§§ 1-3)

By law, misdemeanors are crimes that are punishable by up to one year in prison. Current law classifies misdemeanors as:

1. class A, punishable by up to one year in prison, a fine of up to $2,000, or both;
2. class B, punishable by up to six months in prison, a fine of up to $1,000, or both;
3. class C, punishable by up to three months in prison, a fine of up to $500, or both; and
4. unclassified, punishable by a prison term and fine specified in the individual statute.

The bill creates a new class D misdemeanor punishable by up to 30 days in prison, a fine of up to $250, or both.

Under the bill, an unclassified misdemeanor that specifies a maximum prison penalty that matches the maximum penalty for one of the classifications is deemed to be a misdemeanor of that classification. The bill also retains the fine specified in the statute creating that misdemeanor, even if it does not match the usual fine for that classification. An unclassified misdemeanor with a penalty of imprisonment that differs from any of the classifications remains unclassified.

PROBATION FOR MISDEMEANORS (§ 4)

The bill makes a number of changes regarding probation terms for misdemeanors.

It sets the possible probation term for a class D misdemeanor at up to one year, the same as the law currently provides for a class B or C misdemeanor. By law, unchanged by the bill, the maximum probation term for a class A misdemeanor is two years.

Currently, people convicted of unclassified misdemeanors can be sentenced to a probation term of up to (1) one year if the crime is punishable by up to three months in prison or (2) two years if the crime is punishable by more than three months in prison. The bill instead makes the maximum probation terms (1) one year if the crime is punishable by up to six months in prison and (2) two years if it is punishable by more than six months. Thus, the bill reduces, from two years to one, the maximum probation term for someone sentenced for an unclassified misdemeanor punishable by three to six months in prison.

The bill also changes the maximum probation terms for unclassified misdemeanors punishable by up to six months in prison that are deemed classified as B misdemeanors under the bill. The bill reduces their maximum probation term from two years to one.

UNCLASSIFIED MISDEMEANORS REDUCED TO VIOLATIONS

The bill reduces the penalty for 45 unclassified misdemeanors to violations, which are punishable by fines only and not a prison term.

Under the bill, 39 of these violations are payable by mail, like infractions, and do not require a court appearance (see § 50). The bill sets the maximum fine for each of these violations and authorizes the Superior Court judges to set the actual fine that violators will pay in their schedule of fines for infractions and violations. Table 1 lists the 34 crimes reduced to mail-in violations with fines of up to $250. Table 2 displays the five crimes reduced to mail-in violations with maximum fines higher than $250.

For these six offenses, the law also authorizes the court to impose additional penalties. Table 3 displays these crimes reduced to violations. As under current law, the penalty for illegal sale of raw furs (§ 23, CGS § 26-43) includes suspending the fur dealer’s license for one year, the penalty for towing a dredge near shellfish (§ 154, CGS § 26-231) includes forfeiting the right to fish for one year, and the penalties for violating the other four statutes include allowing the court to order that a shellfishing permit or license not be issued to the offender.

The bill also reduces the possible prison term for four crimes to match those for misdemeanor classifications but the bill imposes higher fines for them than for the appropriate classifications. Because the prison terms match those for class B and D misdemeanors, these crimes would be deemed to be class B and D misdemeanors, as appropriate, with higher fines than those associated with these classifications. Table 7 displays these crimes.

CHANGES TO THE PENALTY STRUCTURE FOR CERTAIN UNCLASSIFIED MISDEMEANORS

Some unclassified misdemeanors have different penalties for subsequent convictions of the offense. The bill (1) makes changes to the penalties in these statutes in a number of different ways and (2) adds penalties for subsequent convictions of some offenses that do not already have these penalties. Table 8 displays these statutes with changes in penalties based on the number of convictions for the offense.

Except for certain violations with other penalties, current law punishes commercial fishing violations with up to 30 days in prison, a fine of up to $250, or both, with each fish or crustacean taken being a separate offense. The bill retains this penalty for commercial fishing violations involving net and boat licenses, restricted waters near streams or estuaries, and fish oil or fertilizer, making them a class D misdemeanor, which does not change the penalties. For other commercial fishing violations, the bill (1) reduces the penalty for a first offense to a mail-in violation of up to $250 and (2) makes a second or subsequent offense a class D misdemeanor, which matches the current penalty (§ 152, CGS § 26-186).

The law punishes illegally taking a moose or bear and the bill makes the following changes to the penalties.

1. For a first offense, the bill reduces the prison penalty from up to 90 days to up to 30 days and the possible fine from at least $500 to up to $500. The prison penalty matches the penalty for a class D misdemeanor and thus the bill deems this to be a class D misdemeanor.
2. For a second offense, the bill reduces the prison penalty from up to 120 days to up to three months and the possible fine from at least $750 to up to $750. The prison penalty matches the penalty for a class C misdemeanor and thus the bill deems this to be a class C misdemeanor.
3. For a third or subsequent offense, the bill reduces the prison penalty from up to 180 days to up to six months and the possible fine from at least $1,000 to up to $1,000. The prison penalty matches the penalty for a class B misdemeanor and thus the bill deems this to be a class B misdemeanor (§ 151, CGS § 26-80a).

UNCLASSIFIED MISDEMEANORS WITH SLIGHT CHANGES IN PRISON TERMS AND CHANGES IN FINES

The bill classifies 17 crimes by making only slight changes to their maximum prison sentences, such as classifying a crime punishable by up to 12 months in prison as a class A misdemeanor punishable by up to one year in prison. The bill also makes changes to fines for all but five of these crimes.

Table 9: Unclassified Misdemeanors with Minor Changes in Prison Terms and Changes in Some Fines

186	53-329	Illegal sale of prisoner products	Up to 90 days Up to $1,000	C misdemeanor

The bill also makes minor changes to prison terms in order to deem certain misdemeanors classified. In doing so, it preserves the existing fines which vary from those that usually apply to the classification. Table 10 displays these offenses.

Table 10: Unclassified Misdemeanors with Minor Changes in Prison Terms that are Deemed Classified Under the Bill with No Change in Fines

ELIMINATED CRIMINAL PENALTIES

The bill eliminates the following two criminal penalties:

1. up to three months in prison, a fine of up to $50, or both for a registrar who knowingly makes false entries in vital records (§ 187) and
2. up to 30 days in prison, a fine of up to $100, or both for violating the brucellosis control regulations which include testing cattle, quarantines, vaccinations, and importing cattle (§ 188).

REPEALED STATUTES

The bill repeals the following 11 statutes (§ 193) and makes conforming changes (§§ 189-192).

1. It eliminates a provision that willfully refusing to leave the vicinity when ordered to do so by a fire department officer directing activities at a fire or emergency site, unless the person has a state police press card, is punishable by up to seven days in prison, a fine of up to $50, or both. By law, the fire chief or any member serving as officer-in-charge when responding to a fire or emergency can order someone to leave the vicinity (CGS § 7-313e). By law, it is a class A misdemeanor to obstruct, resist, hinder, or endanger a firefighter or fail to assist a firefighter when commanded to do so (CGS §§ 53a-167a and -167b).
2. It eliminates a provision punishing removing or damaging a traffic control sign at a railroad crossing or light illuminating a sign with up to 30 days in prison, a fine of up to $10, or both (CGS § 13b-346). By law, damage to railroad property is a (a) class D felony if a person intentionally causes an interruption in service by damaging property or intentionally causes more than $1,500 in damage; (b) class A misdemeanor if a person intends to cause an interruption by damaging property and causes a risk of interruption or intentionally causes more than $250 in damage; or (c) class B misdemeanor if a person intentionally or recklessly damages property, intentionally or recklessly tampers with property and places the property in danger of damage, or damages property by negligence using a potentially harmful or destructive force or substance (CGS § 53a-117k et seq.).
3. It eliminates a provision punishing willfully damaging property on the fair grounds of an agricultural society, obstructing officers performing their duties there, and wrongfully gaining admission to the fairgrounds with up to 30 days in prison, a fine of up to $25, or both (CGS § 22-125). By law, various generally applicable criminal laws apply to this conduct, regardless of where it occurs.
4. It eliminates provisions requiring anyone growing swine to be used other than on the premises to register with the agriculture commissioner; authorizing the commissioner to issue orders and regulations on examinations, quarantines, disinfection, treatment, disposition, transportation, importation, feeding, and sanitation; authorizing investigations of diseases and preventing spread of diseases, prohibiting bringing swine into the state unless they are brucellosis-free and pseudorabies-negative and requiring test after importation (with exceptions); and requiring swine brought in for immediate slaughter to be killed in an approved slaughterhouse under veterinary inspection. It eliminates the penalty of up to 30 days in prison, a fine of up to $100, or both for violating these provisions (CGS § 22-319). A number of other statutes apply to diseases of domestic animals and provide penalties for their violation (CGS §§ 22-278 et seq., 22-319a, and 22-320a et seq.).

5. It eliminates a provision punishing putting or leaving a dead animal in a pond, spring, or reservoir that supplies water to a building or willfully putting a dead animal in any water with up to 30 days in prison, a fine of up to $50, or both (CGS § 25-38). By law, putting anything into a spring, fountain, cistern, or other place where water is taken for drinking or other purposes to pollute its quality is punishable by up to six months in prison, a fine of up to $500, or both (CGS § 25-39). By law, anyone who puts a pollutant or harmful substance into a reservoir, lake, pond, or stream that provides public water supply is subject to up to 30 days in prison, a fine of up to $500, or both (CGS § 25-43(b)). The law also prohibits allowing a pollutant or harmful substance to enter a public water supply reservoir or its tributaries but the bill changes the penalty for violating this provision from an unclassified misdemeanor to a mail-in violation of up to $500 (see § 18 above, CGS § 25-43(a)).
6. It eliminates a provision punishing (a) a state or local police officer or anyone with arrest powers who, directly or indirectly, receives a reward, gift, or gratuity for influencing his or her behavior and (b) anyone who gives, offers, or promises it (unless approved by the commissioner, chief, or police commissioners because of official services) with up to six months in prison, a fine of up to $100, or both (CGS § 29-9). By law, it is a class C felony (punishable by one to 10 years in prison, a fine of up to $10,000, or both) for a (a) public servant to solicit, accept, or agree to accept a benefit for, because of, or as consideration for a decision, opinion, recommendation, or vote or (b) person to offer to do so (CGS §§ 53a-147 and -148).

7. It eliminates a provision punishing anyone who operates or intends to operate a manufacturing or mechanical establishment who has not registered with the labor commissioner or not been included on the list of Connecticut factories. (The labor department no longer compiles this list.) The registration includes the owner's and business' name, nature, and location, and other information the commissioner requires. An employer's failure to register is punishable by a fine of $25 to $100 for the 1st offense and a fine of $100 to $500 and 30 to 60 days in prison, or both for subsequent offenses (CGS § 31-28).
8. It eliminates provisions prohibiting industrial home work (a business giving materials to someone at home to manufacture, finish, repair, or handle) unless the business and person performing the work receive certificates from the labor commissioner. To receive a certificate, a person must be age 16 or older and prove that illness or old age incapacitate him or her from working in the regular business place or that his or her services are essential in the home to care for a household member. The work at home must be customary in the field and suspending it must be an undue hardship. Certificates cannot be issued if someone in the home has a communicable disease. Wage rates must be the same as in places of similar work. An employer can receive a certificate for a $25 annual fee if work in home is customary and necessary in the industry, no harmful or dangerous apparatus or substance is used, and certified home workers are used. The employer must keep records and the commissioner can seize evidence of violations. Violations are punishable by up to $25 per day, up to 30 days in prison, or both, and the commissioner can revoke a certificate or permit (CGS § 31-33).

9. It eliminates a provision that payments to employee welfare funds (CGS § 31-53(i)) that are considered past due under a written contract or rules and regulations adopted by the fund's trustees are treated as wages for purposes of allowing an employee, labor organization, or the labor department to sue and recover twice the amount due plus costs and reasonable attorneys' fees. A proprietor, partner, or corporate officer, director, or employee who fails to make a payment is subject to up to a $200 fine, up to 30 days in prison, or both for each week of nonpayment. A proprietor, partner, or corporate officer of director is personally liable in a civil action for the amounts due plus costs and reasonable attorney's fees (CGS § 31-89a).
10. It eliminates a provision prohibiting burying a body within 350 feet of a house unless (1) a public highway intervenes, (2) the body is encased in a lined vault, (3) it is buried in a cemetery established by November 1, 1911 or a plot adjacent to it was made part of it with the public health commissioner's approval (which must be recorded in the land records), or (4) the cemetery was more than 350 feet away from any house when it was established. Currently, violations are punishable by up to a $50 fine, up to 30 days in prison, or both (CGS § 53-332).
11. It eliminates a provision that requires the top of a container with a corpse to be buried at least 2.5 feet below ground or 1.5 feet below ground if the container is made of steel, bronze, concrete, or other impermeable material, with violations punishable by up to a $100 fine, up to 30 days in prison, or both (CGS § 53-333a). The law also prohibits burial wholly or partially above ground unless in an established cemetery or ground or structure approved by the Department of Public Health (CGS § 19a-313).

OTHER CHANGES TO UNCLASSIFIED MISDEMEANORS

The bill places a maximum prison sentence on the unclassified misdemeanor of willfully violating zoning regulations (§ 5, CGS § 8-12). Under current law, this crime is punishable by up to 10 days in prison, a fine of $100 to $250 per day, or both for each day the zoning violation continues. The bill caps the possible prison term at 30 days. Because the 30-day prison term matches the prison penalty for a class D misdemeanor, the bill deems this offense to be a D misdemeanor.

The law punishes eavesdropping by an employer under certain circumstances. By law, a first offense is a $500 fine and a second offense is a $1,000 fine. Under current law, a third or subsequent offense requires a 30-day prison sentence. The bill also allows the court to impose a fine of up to $1,000 for a third or subsequent offense. The bill deems a third or subsequent offense to be classified as a D misdemeanor (§ 92, CGS § 31-48b).

The law punishes false statement by a dealer, repairer, or motor carrier regarding vehicle inspection. For a first offense, the bill retains the fine of up to $1,000 but changes the maximum prison term from 90 days to three months. Thus, the bill deems this crime to be a class C misdemeanor (§ 163, CGS § 14-163e). For a second or subsequent offense, the bill changes the potential fine from at least $2,000 to no more than $2,000. It retains the maximum prison sentence of up to one year. Thus, the bill deems this crime to be a class A misdemeanor. By law, this conduct is also subject to the penalty for false statement.

Under current law, anyone who violates the law or regulations regarding fireworks displays and permits and causes death or injury is punishable by up to 10 years in prison, a fine of up to $10,000, or both. The bill makes this a class C felony, which has the same penalty except that the prison penalty is one to 10 years. As under current law, a judge can suspend any or all of the prison sentence as none of it is a mandatory minimum sentence (§§ 178-179, CGS § 29-357, also see Table 9 for the penalty for violations that do not cause death or injury).
