

Hello. As someone who has been boating for a number of years. I know the value in proper education on the water. There are too many variables to consider and I do not think that someone with no experience should be given a license without class time.

Jim Leonard