

My name is Jane Ericson and I'm from Bolton. I've never been politically active other than exercising my right to vote. I always felt my elected officials would do the right thing to keep my community, state, and country safe. The Sandy Hook tragedy shook me into reality and I vowed never again to remain silent on the issue of gun violence. My message is simple our state's most precious resource, Our Children, deserve to grow up and live in peaceful communities across our state. The time is now to pass legislation to ban military type assault weapons and the high capacity magazines that feed them. In all the debate over the past three months I have not heard any sane reason why these weapons are continuing to be manufactured for the general population. The proliferation of these weapons in our society is clearly not what the majority of Connecticut citizens want. What we do want are safe and peaceful lives for our children.

Thank you. Jane Ericson
