AN ACT CONCERNING THE RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE CONNECTICUT SENTENCING COMMISSION REGARDING LENGTHY SENTENCES FOR CRIMES COMMITTED BY A CHILD OR YOUTH.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Assembly convened:

1 Section 1. Section 54-125a of the general statutes, as amended by 2 section 59 of public act 13-3, is repealed and the following is 3 substituted in lieu thereof (Effective October 1, 2013):

4 (a) A person convicted of one or more crimes who is incarcerated on 5 or after October 1, 1990, who received a definite sentence or aggregate 6 sentence of more than two years, and who has been confined under 7 such sentence or sentences for not less than one-half of the aggregate 8 sentence less any risk reduction credit earned under the provisions of 9 section 18-98e or one-half of the most recent sentence imposed by the 10 court less any risk reduction credit earned under the provisions of 11 section 18-98e, whichever is greater, may be allowed to go at large on 12 parole in the discretion of the panel of the Board of Pardons and 13 Paroles for the institution in which the person is confined, if (1) it 14 appears from all available information, including any reports from the 15 Commissioner of Correction that the panel may require, that there is a 16 reasonable probability that such inmate will live and remain at liberty 17 without violating the law, and (2) such release is not incompatible with 18 the welfare of society. At the discretion of the panel, and under the 19 terms and conditions as may be prescribed by the panel including 20 requiring the parolee to submit personal reports, the parolee shall be 21 allowed to return to the parolee's home or to reside in a residential 22 community center, or to go elsewhere. The parolee shall, while on 23 parole, remain under the jurisdiction of the board until the expiration 24 of the maximum term or terms for which the parolee was sentenced 25 less any risk reduction credit earned under the provisions of section 26 18-98e. Any parolee released on the condition that the parolee reside in 27 a residential community center may be required to contribute to the 28 cost incidental to such residence. Each order of parole shall fix the 29 limits of the parolee's residence, which may be changed in the 30 discretion of the board and the Commissioner of Correction. Within 31 three weeks after the commitment of each person sentenced to more 32 than two years, the state's attorney for the judicial district shall send to 33 the Board of Pardons and Paroles the record, if any, of such person.

34 (b) (1) No person convicted of any of the following offenses, which 35 was committed on or after July 1, 1981, shall be eligible for parole 36 under subsection (a) of this section: (A) Capital felony, as provided 37 under the provisions of section 53a-54b in effect prior to April 25, 2012, 38 (B) murder with special circumstances, as provided under the 39 provisions of section 53a-54b in effect on or after April 25, 2012, (C) 40 felony murder, as provided in section 53a-54c, (D) arson murder, as 41 provided in section 53a-54d, (E) murder, as provided in section 53a-42 54a, or (F) aggravated sexual assault in the first degree, as provided in 43 section 53a-70a. (2) A person convicted of (A) a violation of section 53a-44 100aa or 53a-102, or (B) an offense, other than an offense specified in 45 subdivision (1) of this subsection, where the underlying facts and 46 circumstances of the offense involve the use, attempted use or 47 threatened use of physical force against another person shall be 48 ineligible for parole under subsection (a) of this section until such 49 person has served not less than eighty-five per cent of the definite 50 sentence imposed.

51 (c) The Board of Pardons and Paroles shall, not later than July 1, 52 1996, adopt regulations in accordance with chapter 54 to ensure that a 53 person convicted of an offense described in subdivision (2) of 54 subsection (b) of this section is not released on parole until such person 55 has served eighty-five per cent of the definite sentence imposed by the 56 court. Such regulations shall include guidelines and procedures for 57 classifying a person as a violent offender that are not limited to a 58 consideration of the elements of the offense or offenses for which such 59 person was convicted.

60 (d) The Board of Pardons and Paroles shall hold a hearing to 61 determine the suitability for parole release of any person whose 62 eligibility for parole release is not subject to the provisions of 63 subsection (b) of this section upon completion by such person of 64 seventy-five per cent of such person's definite or aggregate sentence
65 less any risk reduction credit earned under the provisions of section 66 18-98e. An employee of the board or, if deemed necessary by the 67 chairperson, a panel of the board shall reassess the suitability for 68 parole release of such person based on the following standards: (1) 69 Whether there is a reasonable probability that such person will live 70 and remain at liberty without violating the law, and (2) whether the 71 benefits to such person and society that would result from such 72 person's release to community supervision substantially outweigh the 73 benefits to such person and society that would result from such 74 person's continued incarceration. After such hearing, if the board 75 determines that continued confinement is necessary, it shall articulate 76 for the record the specific reasons why such person and the public 77 would not benefit from such person serving a period of parole 78 supervision while transitioning from incarceration to the community.
79 The decision of the board under this subsection shall not be subject to 80 appeal.

81 (e) The Board of Pardons and Paroles shall hold a hearing to 82 determine the suitability for parole release of any person whose 83 eligibility for parole release is subject to the provisions of subdivision 84 (2) of subsection (b) of this section upon completion by such person of 85 eighty-five per cent of such person's definite or aggregate sentence. An 86 employee of the board or, if deemed necessary by the chairperson, a 87 panel of the board shall assess the suitability for parole release of such 88 person based on the following standards: (1) Whether there is a 89 reasonable probability that such person will live and remain at liberty 90 without violating the law, and (2) whether the benefits to such person 91 and society that would result from such person's release to community 92 supervision substantially outweigh the benefits to such person and 93 society that would result from such person's continued incarceration.

94 After such hearing, if the board determines that continued
95 confinement is necessary, it shall articulate for the record the specific 96 reasons why such person and the public would not benefit from such 97 person serving a period of parole supervision while transitioning from 98 incarceration to the community. The decision of the board under this 99 subsection shall not be subject to appeal.

100 (f) (1) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsections (a) to (e), 101 inclusive, of this section, a person convicted of one or more crimes 102 committed while such person was under eighteen years of age, who is 103 incarcerated on or after October 1, 2013, and who received a definite 104 sentence or aggregate sentence of more than ten years for such crimes 105 prior to, on or after October 1, 2013, may be allowed to go at large on 106 parole in the discretion of the panel of the Board of Pardons and 107 Paroles for the institution in which such person is confined. If such 108 person is serving a sentence of sixty years or less, such person shall be 109 eligible for parole after serving one-half of the sentence or ten years, 110 whichever is greater. If such person is serving a sentence of more than 111 sixty years, such person shall be eligible for parole after serving thirty 112 years, less any risk reduction credit earned under the provisions of 113 section 18-98e. Nothing in this subsection shall limit a person's 114 eligibility for parole release under the provisions of subsections (a) to 115 (e), inclusive, of this section if such person would be eligible for parole 116 release at an earlier date under any of such provisions.

117 (2) The board shall apply the parole eligibility rules of this

118 subsection only with respect to the sentence for a crime or crimes 119 committed while a person was under eighteen years of age. Any 120 portion of a sentence that is based on a crime or crimes committed 121 while a person was eighteen years of age or older shall be subject to 122 the applicable parole eligibility, suitability and release rules set forth in 123 subsections (a) to (e), inclusive, of this section.

124 (3) Whenever a person becomes eligible for parole release pursuant 125 to this subsection, the board shall hold a hearing to determine such 126 person's suitability for parole release. At least twelve months prior to 127 such hearing, the board shall notify the office of Chief Public Defender 128 and the appropriate state's attorney of such person's eligibility for 129 parole release pursuant to this subsection. The office of Chief Public 130 Defender shall assign counsel for such person pursuant to section 51-131 296 if such person is indigent. At any hearing to determine such 132 person's suitability for parole release pursuant to this subsection, the 133 board shall permit (A) such person to make a statement on such 134 person's behalf, (B) counsel for such person and the state's attorney to 135 submit reports and other documents, and (C) any victim of the crime 136 or crimes to make a statement pursuant to section 54-126a. The board 137 may request testimony from mental health professionals or other 138 relevant witnesses, and reports from the Commissioner of Correction 139 or other persons, as the board may require. The board shall use 140 validated risk assessment and needs assessment tools and its risk-141 based structured decision making and release criteria established 142 pursuant to subsection (d) of section 54-124a in making a 143 determination pursuant to this subsection.

144 (4) After such hearing, the board may allow such person to go at 145 large on parole with respect to any portion of a sentence that was 146 based on a crime or crimes committed while such person was under 147 eighteen years of age if the board finds that such parole release would 148 be consistent with the factors set forth in subdivisions (1) to (4), 149 inclusive, of subsection (c) of section 54-300 and if it appears, from all 150 available information, including, but not limited to, any reports from

151 the Commissioner of Correction, that (A) there is a reasonable 152 probability that such person will live and remain at liberty without 153 violating the law; (B) the benefits to such person and society that 154 would result from such person's release to community supervision 155 substantially outweigh the benefits to such person and society that 156 would result from such person's continued incarceration; and (C) such 157 person has demonstrated substantial rehabilitation since the date such 158 crime or crimes were committed considering such person's character, 159 background and history, as demonstrated by factors including, but not 160 limited to, such person's correctional record, the age and circumstances 161 of such person as of the date of the commission of the crime or crimes, 162 whether such person has demonstrated remorse and increased 163 maturity since the date of the commission of the crime or crimes, such 164 person's contributions to the welfare of other persons through service, 165 such person's efforts to overcome substance abuse, addiction, trauma, 166 lack of education or obstacles that such person may have faced as a 167 child or youth in the adult correctional system, the opportunities for 168 rehabilitation in the adult correctional system and the overall degree of 169 such person's rehabilitation considering the nature and circumstances 170 of the crime or crimes.

171 (5) After such hearing, if the board determines that continued 172 confinement is necessary, the board shall articulate for the record the 173 specific reasons why such person and the public would not benefit 174 from such person serving a period of parole supervision while 175 transitioning from incarceration to the community. The board shall 176 reassess such person's suitability for parole release at a later date to be 177 determined at the discretion of the board.

178 (6) The decision of the board under this subsection shall not be 179 subject to appeal.

180 [(f)] (g) Any person released on parole under this section shall 181 remain in the custody of the Commissioner of Correction and be 182 subject to supervision by personnel of the Department of Correction 183 during such person's period of parole.
