

Dear sirs,

On line training may be effective for some things but not for others. Attempting to rush in a new measure for on line boat training would be a major mistake and only serve serve as window dressing for our politicians instead of serving the safety of our boating community. You certainly dont see teenagers taking a drivers test on line do you?

Bill Wesnofske