

Hello,

I understand you are trying to pass a bill changing boating and hunting courses from classroom based to computer based and I find this to be absolutely outrageous. These aren't things you can just program a computer to teach. These are the types of courses that need person on person interaction. A computer can't teach 2nd nature , they don't think like a person does they are programmed to give specific answers to specific questions. You don't see Drivers Ed road test being done on Google Maps so it should be the same as boating and hunting courses as well. Given all of the recent firearms issues, the fact that this is being used for a hunting safety course is disgusting. I hope this bill gets opposed because this is simply absurd to think these are types of things a computer can teach.

Best Regards,
Joe Snyder
