1. Why was the new waiver created behind closed doors?
2. Why weren't the people being impacted by these changes consulted for input?
3. What will happen to the people grandfathered into the current waiver when the current waiver no longer qualifies as a waiver and collapses?
4. Will the people that lose the current waiver end up on a waiting list for the new waiver, which has only 13 slots open per year?
5. If they do go onto a waiting list, what happens to them in the meantime?
6. What about the people on the current waiver who require a 200% cap? The new waiver only has a 150% cap. Will the people that need the 200% cap end up institutionalized? What if institutionalization isn't appropriate?
