

As an educator in a public school in CT, I strongly urge you to vote against the common core. It is not helping our children to become brighter individuals rather it is causing the key components that all students need to be successful are being lost. Students are being pushed harder and are learning less in the process because the common core does not allow for reteaching and does not allow educators to spend time working on skills that are not being understood. They are cramming these concepts in short periods of time and then moving on whether they were mastered or not.

Thank you

Lisa Liano