To Whom It May Concern:

We prepaid for my heating oil from Ace Oil when they went out of business. After having to search for a new company, we made the decision to go with a company that we trusted, have been around for a long time and has good business practices. We also made the decision to prepay our oil with them for the remainder of the heating season.

We were also protected from Ace Oil because we used our credit card and were able to recover our money that way. We purchased our new prepaid contract with a credit card and will continue to do so to protect ourselves in the future.

We feel the prepay is valuable to us as consumers and would like our oil company to continue to be able to offer it without an added cost that would ultimately be passed onto us.

Sincerely,
