

February 13, 2014

My name is Norm Gaudet and I am a former Ace Oil customer who lost money when they went out of business. I chose to prepay again because I like to be protected against the rise in price of oil during the winter programs.

I believe that the reason why I lost money is because the government failed to enforce the current laws that would have required Ace Oil to cover their oil. Adding more laws rather than enforcing the ones we currently have offer me no protection. The government has focused on making sure gift cards do not harm the consumer while overlooking the larger areas such as prepaid contracts. I think we should use the laws we have rather than making new ones and that may not be followed even if they are in place. If you pass this law you will be costing me more money without giving me any more protection.

Sincerely,
