Subject: Bill 5288 - Chemical Road Treatments

Dear Mr. Neeley: I am totally against the overuse of these chlorine chemicals on more than roads. Though these Magnesium and sodium chlorides and their sugar coatings are creating corrosive damage to automobiles, etc , what about the health effects on humans? I live in a senior complex and the local landscaping company who also take care of our sidewalks and parking lot, and dump tons of this rock salt (sodium chloride) and funny looking colored stuff that looks like colored sand which also causes corrosive lawns and gardens, but gets tracked into our apartments as well. This year I also have spent lots of money trying different drugs and doctors to combat the Rosacea all over my face and nearly into my eyes. The itching and burning 24/7 for nearly 2-1/2 months nearly drove me crazy till the steroid facial creams seemed to quiet things down, at least for the time being. I know there have been complaints from mechanics who work on these corrosive cars, and have complained about itching and burning hands, but I wonder how many others have similar complaints over other areas of their bodies. After all each part of our body is connected to another part and we all breathe the same dirty, toxic air. I want to support Bill 5288. Thank you, Judith Puhalski
