To Whom This Concerns,

I am a supporter of the raised bill 5144, an act concerning access to birth certificates and parental health information for adoptee persons.

I am a birth mother of an adoptee, and feel that any adoptee should have rights to this information. Giving my child up for adoption was the hardest thing I had faced in my life. Due to situations in my life at that time, giving my child up was a complete and total act of love. I was concerned about the best interest of my child back then, and although my birth child has not been a part of my life up to this point the fact remains that first and foremost, I still have my birth child's best interest in mind. Regardless of any given situation an adoptee should not have to suffer the consequences of a decision that was made beyond their control.

With all due respect to adoptees, I urge everyone involved to pass this bill and give adoptees the rights they so deserve.

Sincerely,

Susan C. Albin
