To Whom It May Concern:

I heard that the Family School Connection (FSCN) program may be getting cut from the Norwich Public Schools. Family School Connection is a program in which students and their families work closely with one of the employees to better their education. Within the two years I have worked as a teacher in Norwich, I have had many students in my class who have been apart of FSCN and who have drastically changed. FSCN has done a tremendous job working with the struggling students at our school and helping their families with various issues. These issues have ranged from students who have had too many absences, students who have been disconnected from school, or students who have had behavioral problems. This program not only assists the students involved, but also engages the parental support at home. The workers make weekly home visits that include parenting support and education to help their child be successful in school. FSCN has been such a HUGE part of our school and in the Norwich Public school district. I cannot imagine our school without FSCN because it has made such an impact on our students and their families. We are lucky to say that FSCN has worked so closely with our classes and our students. I strongly urge you to continue this program within the Norwich Public Schools because without it, our students our families and the staff would suffer tremendously.

Thank you for your time,
