

Members of the Legislature,

Do not place a greater burden on the poorest in our state by placing another bauble before them in the form of a gambling artifice called "keno". Connecticut need not emulate the Southern states that take pleasure in fleecing their poorer citizens and as an added affront devising schemes with the odor of "Jim Crow" to frustrate them from voting.

Don't hide your need for new taxes, and make it plain these new taxes are not due to your desire for another unnecessary expenditure. Connecticut residents will respond positively if your story is straight forward and reasonable.

Emulate the Iroquois nation whose representatives before any vote of importance considered its effect on their future, specifically the 7th generation in the future.

Would your descendants 7 generations in the future ratify your decision?

Vote NO on keno.
