

To Whom It May Concern,

Please do not let Alex Wullaert's heinous crimes be expunged from the record.

No living thing without a voice to speak the atrocities done to it, nor the wallet to sue him and put him away from society for good, should go beaten and killed without society being forewarned of this person's crime.

I urge you to set the precedent that a defenseless animal is not an allowable platform for anger and rage to be processed without justice and society protection.

Thank you for your time and consideration of your value to those who cannot defend themselves.

Sincerely,

Joanne Bosshardt
