Concerning Bill 668,

I personally do not want any Doctor to have the right to take a life. That is not what they have gone to school nor trained for.

We, including members of our State of Connecticut government have no right to even think of doing something like this, let alone sitting higher than what you were elected to do. None of us are God, though some may think they are! We have no right to even think of or sit in judgment of another's right to live.

It is time for government to stop using their positions to mandate what should be or not be the law. If you would take a look at the Supreme Court building in Washington, D.C., you will see above the entrance steps in the middle of the fresco, Moses holding the Ten Commandments.

Law is from God and you have no business or right to change it!

I am a citizen of CT, USA, and U.S. Marine Corps veteran as well as a husband, father, grandfather and Lay Minister. I have seen death and it doesn't need your help! Leave it up to God, for HE is the only ONE that knows what HE's doing.

Shalom,
