To All Members of the General Assembly:

Physician Assisted Suicide is wrong from a moral and ethical standpoint. Only God can give life and take it back. He decides whether we live or die; our lives should never be placed in the hands of a doctor or some death panel who deems it necessary to end life. After all, doctors are human, just like us, while God is Supreme Spirit

I can't believe we're even talking about this again. This issue came up once before; I opposed it then, and I'm opposing it now.

Back in 2002, when my Dad's emphysema got the best of him, I prayed most fervently that God would do His will in my Dad to keep him from suffering any more from his illness. Well, God answered my prayer in three hours; He took Dad's last life breath, because He knew he had suffered quite a bit.

It takes a lot of faith to understand that God is in control; not us, and not the doctors. Having a strong faith and trusting in God's holy will, is the only thing that we need. Doctors are human and can make mistakes. God is all knowing and all seeing because of His Divinity.

Please ponder this in your heart, and feel your heart beating in your chest. If someone you loved was given an injection to end life, could you live with that? I couldn't!

Please do the right thing and vote against Physician Assisted Suicide.

Sincerely,
June E. Vendetti
