

Friends

I am opposed to the idea of tolls for funding the transportation program.

It is time for Connecticut's elected officials to cut big government and make it appropriate for the population it serves.

Companies will be moving out of Conn. in great numbers if the current programs continue.

I have recently worked with the DECD over 16 months to help my company. The process was long, complicated and not user friendly. The results were not successful because of our foreign partner and as a business owner I felt I was treated poorly. We are now in the middle of a possible joint venture with an Italian company to come to the USA with jobs, but I am hard pressed to consider Conn. This state does not treat small business fairly and is not interested in supporting new business.
