Public Hearing, Committee on Transportation

Connecticut Construction Industries Association, Inc. is comprised of more than 300 members, including contractors, subcontractors, suppliers and affiliated organizations representing various sectors of the construction industry.

CCIA supports the above-referenced measures that would ensure that transportation related revenues would be deposited into the Special Transportation Fund, and the revenues in the STF would be used for transportation purposes.

It is well established that Connecticut's aging and inadequate transportation systems are becoming an impediment to prosperity, and that our transportation problems, left unaddressed, will eventually become a significant hindrance to safe travel, economic development, protecting the environment, and sustaining the quality of life across the state.

Ensuring that transportation revenues will be dedicated to transportation investments is an important step to instilling public confidence in the state's ability to deliver on a promise of much needed improvements across all modes of transportation. It lays a solid foundation for good transportation policy going forward.

For more than 80 years, CCIA has represented the commercial construction industry in Connecticut, carrying on its founding members' belief in the power of collective action and cooperation to grow the industry. One of the Association's oldest entities, the Connecticut Road Builders Association, was formed in 1933. CCIA is an organization of associations, where various segments of the commercial construction industry work together to advance and promote their shared interests. CCIA is comprised of over 300 members, including contractors, subcontractors, material producers, equipment and material suppliers, professionals such as accountants, attorneys, engineers, surety and insurance companies, as well as other professionals allied with the state's construction industry.
