To Whom It May Concern,

I'm John McMillian, CEO of Shockwave Motors. I have more than 45 years of experience with electric vehicles and I have designed and built a variety of electric cars. Additionally, I am the author of "Electric Cars: The switch is on!" and "The Leader's Guide to Quality in America".

Shockwave Motors was formed in 2006 as a general partnership. After several years of research and development we have created two test roadsters and formed a corporation in 2014. We also completed all the necessary requirements for our SAE national and international certifications as a motorcycle manufacturer. We are focused on the triple bottom-line of People, Planet, and Profit.

We have designed—from the ground up—a more affordable electric roadster for the today's commuter. Our high performance, three-passenger EV, has a daily range of up to 200 miles. The roadster is pollution free at the vehicle. We are achieving the equivalent of 225 MPG at speeds of about 45 MPH. At lower speeds the efficiency is even higher! The top speed of the production vehicle is over 70 MPH.

Our plans call for the establishment of one or more assembly facilities in Connecticut. In 2013, the government ended tax incentives for electric vehicles with less than four wheels. We strongly encourage you to specifically include two and three wheel electric vehicles in the creation of HB 6030 and HB 6031.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
