

Sirs, As a Senior, I am appalled at the raise in both Income taxes , and estate taxes in Connecticut.

I have worked for over 40 years , hoping to leave some money to my children and grandchildren , but now, it will be all but impossible. Watching other states balance their budgets, cutting spending, and reducing taxes makes me wonder why Connecticut cannot do the same.

The state is continually losing major wealthy people, Eddie Lampert for one, and will continue to do so with these current policies. Florida looks more and more attractive.

Households have to live within their means.. Why can't Connecticut???
