

Absolutely no state taxpayer dollars should go to build or operate a proposed Hartford Stadium for the Yard Goats. That deal was made in secret between the City of Hartford and the Rock Cats and state taxpayers were promised that NO state tax dollars would be used to fund the stadium. The state can barely afford its own budget obligations, let alone pick up additional obligations made by the City of Hartford. They made their bed with the Rock Cats and now they should sleep in it – without state tax dollars to soften the blow. Hartford should have thought this action through before they signed the deal. It is not up to state taxpayers to bail them out of yet another stupid decision.

James R. Albert
President and CEO
Central Connecticut Chambers of Commerce