Judiciary Committee
CT General Assembly

I have carefully read Bill 7015, and find that it is totally compatible with my conservative views on the proper role of government.

In the instant case, I think that government should not interfere with the personal decisions of terminally ill patients seeking a dignified and painless end to their illness.

Life is all about choices. A Connecticut citizen afflicted by a terminal illness should be allowed to make the choice to end his or her life with the assistance of a doctor.

I respectfully ask the Judiciary Committee to pass Bill 7015 onto the General Assembly for consideration.
