Subject: assisted suicide

I am submitting testimony in OPPOSITION to SB 668

Assisted suicide does not offer people death with dignity. Instead it removes their dignity, making them feel as though their lives are unimportant, valueless and burdensome to their families. It makes them feel as though they shouldn't want to live and fight their disease. It takes their passion for life, their feelings of self-worth, and their self-esteem and stomps all over them. Lives are worth living and people who are fighting illness have more to offer the world than those who aren't facing such battles. We shouldn't be telling them they are better off dead. We should be helping them live out their final days to the best of their abilities. Comfortable, at peace, and with love.
