I am writing to express my dismay that our State is considering making murder of our most vulnerable residents legal. You can call it "assisted suicide" or the "right" to a dignified death, but the truth is we are considering allowing doctors to be accomplices in killing their patients. It is morally and ethically wrong. Passing this bill is opening up pandora's box, giving health care workers and family the opportunity to view the terminally ill in a dangerous light; as a burden; as disposable.

Human life is precious and must be valued as such from conception until natural death.
