

Moniz-Carroll, Rhonda

---

From: Anne Brislin <abrislin@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, March 27, 2015 9:48 PM
To: JudTestimony
Subject: Senate Bil 1129

Dear Judiciary committee members,

Please help to plug up the holes in the early release program for our prisons. we need to keep violent and dangerous offenders in prison to protect our society as a whole. these are people who will re-offend and are rarely remorseful for their crimes. Vote yes and support Senate Bill 1129.

To the contrary of the purpose of earning credits for the purpose of self-improvement, many of these criminals are more likely to show signs of sociopathic or psychopathic behavior. True to the traits of disinhibition (risk-taking), callous and unemotional affect, and impulsivity common to violent criminals, these prisoners are simply gaming the system to get out early and will likely be career criminals. You only have to look back at some of the more recent examples of convenience store owners being killed by recently released violent felons, brutal sexual assaults perpetrated by repeat sex offenders, and recent murders of pregnant women to see how important it is to make early release only an option for non-violent offenders. The early release of many of these individuals puts their previous victims at risk, by re-victimizing them with the fear of encountering their assailant in the community. You rob these victims of peace of mind and a right to heal and be unafraid, and threaten the greater good of society by failing to protect the public safety.

Sincerely,
Anne M. Brislin