Gambling it's a vice with consequences for it's abuse, Connecticut I would assume has enough of it at the current time. I don't support this but I might support legislation involving other gambling activity like the cardboard peel slot tickets I have seen in some private clubs as a revenue source in public bars for the state...that could be a real money maker and has limits on it I think the tickets were like .25 and you could win up to a $100.00..
