Explanation of State Impact of Regulation: The proposed amendments implement the provisions of section 26-307 of the Connecticut General Statutes requiring the commissioner review and revise the regulations as necessary by adding or removing, or changing designations of endanger, threatened, or special concern species. The amendments do not affect the commissioner's authority under Chapter 495 and consequently will not have a substantial economic impact.

Explanation of Municipal Impact of Regulation: The proposed amendments implement the provisions of section 26-307 of the Connecticut General Statutes requiring the commissioner review and revise the regulations as necessary by adding or removing, or changing designations of endanger, threatened, or special concern species. The amendments do not affect the commissioner's authority under Chapter 495 and consequently will not have a substantial economic impact.

Explanation of Small Business Impact of Regulation: The proposed amendments implement the provisions of section 26-307 of the Connecticut General Statutes requiring the commissioner review and revise the regulations as necessary by adding or removing, or changing designations of endanger, threatened, or special concern species. The amendments do not affect the commissioner's authority under Chapter 495 and consequently will not have a substantial economic impact.

Is a regulatory flexibility analysis required pursuant to C.G.S. 4-168a? As there is no anticipated adverse impact to small business, no regulatory flexibility analysis is required.
