

Use of resources that are considered “free” leads to profligate and inefficient use of those resources. That being said, it is incumbent upon government to provide a multi-modal efficient transportation system for the residents of Connecticut. While money is fungible, I would hope that funds raised by introducing tolls to CT roads are used in some measure to improve other means of transport. We need to consider the transport needs of the lower income families.

If tolls are introduced I hope the CT DOT has the vision to use efficient toll collection methods which do not slow traffic, do not cost significant amounts to collect and consider variable pricing.
