

Transportation Committee,

I would like to offer my opinion on the matter of tolls in Connecticut.

Connecticut has been better off since tolls were removed. I understand that the new toll system will be different compared to the old toll booth days. However, commerce is a benefit to all the citizens of Connecticut. Adding another agency which certainly is not free will create an unneeded, cumbersome and punishing transportation impediment particularly to border towns and cities. Why do we want to discourage and annoy people who want to shop and visit Connecticut.

I am sure you can find a better way to raise funds for transportation that are more equitable and that have less of a negative impact on a specific group of people and business owners.

Thank you,
