

How sad that our legislators are choosing to dedicate their limited time to a bill that will not in any way save one elephant living presently on this planet. To grandstand and prey on the public emotions over the loss of Cecil the lion is an insult to all intelligent people. Are we going to arrest people for owning a guitar made with pieces of ivory, or the owners of pianos with ivory keys ??? These people are not felons.....let's turn our attention to arresting the poachers in the countries where these illegal acts are occurring. People who live in this country who own objects that contain ivory are not the criminals.....let's not make them one by enacting this useless bill that will not save one elephant's life.
