

Plum Island should forever remain a National Park for such obvious reasons that I should not have to mention! As a native Long Islander, I revere all land that is pristine and part of an ecosystem that supports natural habitats for birds, mammals and any other creature, human or other that may venture to enjoy and hike an island of interest! There are so few acres left of open space left that we must be forever diligent to protect, remember and revere the land that is yours, ours and mine from California to the highlands to the coast of New England! May we leave a legacy of protection versus acclimation, a legacy of environmentalism versus capitalism and a legacy of appreciation versus destructionmay we revere the only planet we know that has life worth living, worth respecting, worth saving!
