The very name of this speaks volumes. A double tax? Was this country not founded on tax issues? Instead of looking for new sources of money, how about this state starting to use the money they have responsibly? I know it is an alien idea but perhaps one worthy of consideration. We elect officials to manage tax dollars for the good of the people. That is the sole function of government. If I am not wrong, the CT government has managed us into a $900 million deficit. Would you, as an employer, go up to such a body and say "Nice Job"?
