I might be too late for Testimony, but I am going to try anyway. Don't you think that we are taxed enough in this state? A car wash tax is beyond ridiculous. How about reducing the business taxes so we can get some jobs back here. I will be losing my job (at a company I have worked with for 15 years!) in a couple of weeks due to the bad economy. On top of that I can only collect unemployment for 6 months..what if I can't get a "living wage" job in that time? Another tax? Come on now.....seriously Connecticut. We need to find other ways of garnering revenue. If we become attractive to business, then we can have decent jobs and then the tax base will rise (as more businesses and people move here), and then more will be paying taxes, and all the boats will float. This legislature chased away more than one tax-paying company in the past years, let's not make it ever more!
