

Testimony regarding: HB 5443 AAC THE USE OF BREED OF DOG AS AN UNDERWRITING FACTOR FOR HOMEOWNERS AND TENANTS INSURANCE POLICIES.

Insurance and Real Estate Committee Public Hearing, March 3, 2016

Amy Harrell, President, CT Votes for Animals
Vernon, CT resident

Thank you for the opportunity to testify in support of this very important proposal. This bill, if passed, has the potential to change so many lives here in Connecticut. All dogs in Connecticut's shelters struggle to find new homes. Connecticut euthanizes nearly 1,500 animals per year in our municipal pounds.¹ Dogs who have been arbitrarily labeled by insurance companies as "dangerous" must overcome additional hurdles to find a new home. By removing the homeowners insurance factor, we give these innocent dogs a much better chance at a new life.

Three years ago, the Connecticut Legislature passed a terrific law to prohibit municipalities from enacting ordinances against specific dog breeds. (Public Act 13-103). Lawmakers acknowledged the inherent problems with breed-specific legislation, and that dog aggression is due to factors such as socialization and training rather than breed. This policy of non-discrimination should be extended to the insurance business as well. In a 2014 position paper against breed discrimination, the American Veterinary Society of Animal Behavior states that "resident" dogs were responsible for 76.2% of the dog bite related fatalities in the U.S. between 2000 and 2009. Resident dogs are defined as "dogs who have an owner, but spend most of their lives isolated [...] These dogs may be fenced or chained away from people and normal interactions, or simply ignored and don't benefit from early training. As a result, resident dogs may be more likely to express aggression and also perhaps other anxieties since fear of people, fear of other animals and fear of novel situations are among the most common explanations for aggression in dogs."²

CT Votes for Animals has many members who work hard every day to find homes for so-called bully breeds. Victims of an unfounded reputation, these loving dogs struggle, often for months, in shelters while adopters pass them by. Please give them a break. Require insurance companies to stop using dog breed as a factor in the cost of availability of insurance. Thank you.

¹ State of Connecticut, Dept of Agriculture APCP program "Eighteen Year Report." August 2016.

² "Position Statement on Breed-Specific Legislation" American Veterinary Society of Animal Behavior. August 2014. http://avsabonline.org/uploads/position_statements/Breed-Specific_Legislation-download_8-18-14.pdf