

My name is Maria Barresi, I have been a patient of Dr. Kathleen Riley and the Eclectic Naturopathy Center for over 25 years. Dr. Riley uses modern day lab tests and other tests as tools to diagnose her patients. Treatment includes homeopathic, naturopathic, holistic, Bowen and other methods.

The training that she received is intensive and extensive. She continues to learn new treatment methods and is current with main stream medicine's treatments and medications. I sought out her care when MD treatment failed me- for menopause for human Parvo virus. She has treated my children for several illnesses including Lyme disease.

The system as it now stands, requires that I pay out of pocket for naturopathic physician visits. In order for my visits to be covered by insurance, I must go to a MD in order to get a prescription to treat my conditions. The cost to me is time off from work for TWO appointments, out of pocket expenses for naturopathic visits.

Yes, I do see the benefit of both types of medical treatment; however a more comprehensive approach to diagnosis and treatment is best for all concerned.

Most Respectfully submitted,

Maria G. Barresi
