

Dear Public Health Committee,
Please! Didn't the mess around the Haddam land swap wake you up?
Connecticut's drinking water is one of the best in the country - and there's a new state-wide water plan being drafted to keep it that way.
Why would you considered swapping land (Class I and II no less) and put water supplies under threat when the water plan isn't finished?
Take a deep breath and put SB300 on the back burner for another year.
Thank you,
Barbara Backman
